

NATIONAL LAW UNIVERSITY DELHI

LL.M., Semester-I (Batch of 2023)

End-Semester Examinations, November - 2023

Paper: Comparative Public Law

Time:3 Hours

Total Marks: 50

Instructions:

1. All answers must be supported by relevant comparative law principles/ideas
 2. One Country other than India must be mandatorily engaged with in answers.
 3. All questions carry equal marks
-

- Q.1 “The Universalist position, which assumes that global generalization is possible, contrasts with the particularistic position, which flatly denies this. These positions correspond with the contrast between ‘global constitutionalists’ and global sovereigntists’. Explain.
- Q.2 “Under the conditions of a modern industrialized society, the material foundation for factual freedom of a large number of citizens is not to be found in a ‘mastered sphere of life’. Elucidate the above statement in the context of theory of rights.
- Q.3 “Why, then, does it seem so natural that a law, by very kind of thing it is, applies equally to everyone? It is shallow to simply say in a very general and unilluminating way that equality is a fundamental value and it applies to the law as to other things.” Elaborate.
- Q.4 “State is a political unity of a people and the rule of law component in a constitution is an unpolitical component”. Examine the above statement by giving suitable examples.
- Q.5 Write short notes on-
- a) Uniqueness of Indian unamendability principle.(5 marks)
 - b) Constitutional Exceptionalism of Emergency. (5 marks).